NEFELI PAPADIMOULI

Artist and architect Nefeli Papadimouli (born 1988 in Athens, Greece) lives between her hometown of Athens and Paris, where she graduated from the Ecole Nationale Supérieure Des Beaux-Arts De Paris (ENSBA) with honours.

Her artistic research ranges from participatory actions in the public space to sculpture, object design, drawing, moving image to installation and performance which constitute the current focus of her practice.

In the traditions of the avant-garde, Papadimouli's work blurs the limits between different categories of artistic practice and her projects appear as fusions of "in-between" media.

In 2023, the artist exhibited works at Le Crédac, Ivry-sur-Seine, where the installation and sculptures required to be "activated", composed of 10 costumes and 110 modular elements.
